Fair and Colder Spell Stops Flood

Weather Bureau Reduces High-Water Predictions for State

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Fair and colder weather in Arkansas Tuesday relieved anxiety that floods would follow the series of tornadoes which killed more than 50 persons in the South over the week-end.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock reduced its high-water predictions. The White, Ouachita, Petit Jean and Saline rivers are beginning to fall in their upper reaches.

Relief workers took advantage of the weather to clear away the debris and give succor to the homeless of eight states, where 51 perished and 351 were injured. Property damage approached the million-dollar mark.

The death toll for Arkansas jumped to 28 when Jefferson county officials gave up hope for two small negroes who were tossed into flooded Bayou Bartholomew near Ladd during Sunday's storm.

Hits for Spain; Berlin Observes Hitler's Birthday

Germans Deny Rumors Surrender of Danzig Has Been Agreed on

A U. S. CONFERENCE

Parley as to Economic Management in Event of European War

BERLIN, Germany.—(P)—Chancellor Hitler returned to Berlin by train late Tuesday as Nazi Germany prepared to give him a tremendous ovation on his 50th birthday, which falls on Thursday.

The reichsfuehrer's return after a 16-day absence at Berchtesgaden, Munich, and in Austria, came shortly after an official announcement that Germany's modern fleet had put out to sea from Kiel and Wilhelmshaven on its way to spring maneuvers in Spanish waters.

How and when the fleet units left remained a naval secret.

Rumors that Germany and Poland had agreed on the return of Danzig Free City to Germany were termed absolute nonsense by authoritative sources.

What U. S. Would Do
WASHINGTON.—(P)—President Roosevelt called in his financial advisors Tuesday to survey tentative plans as to the conduct of the security and commodity markets in event of a European war.

Officials said the question had already been discussed in a preliminary way by the department officials directly concerned.

England Cheers U. S.
LONDON, Eng.—(P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told a meeting of the House of Commons Tuesday that Great Britain welcomed "with great satisfaction" President Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini.

In a brief statement on foreign affairs Chamberlain said Britain is continuing conversations with Soviet Russia to widen the British-French peace front, but added that he had nothing new to report.

Chamberlain indicated Britain is considering the establishment of some sort of supply ministry.

While rumors circulated in London that Germany would march into the Free City of Danzig Wednesday, R. A. Butler, foreign affairs undersecretary, told the house that the League of Nations would have to consider any change in the status of Danzig.

Critical for France
PARIS, France.—(P)—Premier Daladier told the cabinet Tuesday that the continuing seriousness of the international situation made it necessary for France to take further steps to strengthen her defenses.

Both the premier and Foreign Minister Bonnet gave a long analysis on the Foreign situation during the cabinet session.

Believe Hitler Conciliatory
LONDON, Eng.—(P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain Monday night was expected to announce in the House of Commons Tuesday that Turkey, ally of the Allies in the World War, had become the sixth member of his anti-aggression alliance. Chamberlain was believed ready to state that Britain and France would guarantee the independence of Turkey.

Nations lined up in the bloc now are: Britain, France, Poland, Greece and Roumania.

London hoped it would be able to announce soon conclusion of an air pact with Soviet Russia, although negotiations for this were being extended.

In diplomatic quarters it was said Russia had promised "at least material aid" to Britain and her allies in event of war.

Chamberlain was expected to announce that "good progress" was being made in British-French negotiations to get Russia into the alliance.

Progress of negotiations with Turkey and Russia and Chancellor Hitler's summoning of the Reichstag for April 28 to answer President Roosevelt's appeal, though the situation momentarily eased there still remained considerable concern.

Conviction grew in Foreign Office circles that calling of the Reichstag was a conciliatory rather than an ominous move. It was believed here that Hitler might point out that "the Versailles powers" to try to solve the economic problems of the world, but

A Letter to the Shade of Mario Izzo

You won't be able to read this letter, Mario Izzo, because you are dead.
But we don't entirely understand these things, and maybe there is some way you can know.
Do you know, Mario, that the people of your home town of Aliquippa, Pa. are taking up a collection to get your body removed from the potter's field, where they buried it when you died?
That's because they have been thinking about you lately, now that you are gone. That's the way people are. They are slow to give credit to the living, quick to praise the dead.
But at last they do understand, a little, that you were really a great man.
They didn't realize it when you, as an elderly Italian immigrant too old to work, went to the poorhouse where you died. They paid you $3.60 a week.
Only a few noticed that soon after you began to receive the checks you appeared on the streets, dabbling away with a broom—slowly and not very effectively, for you were an old man—to try to do something for the community which was paying you a pittance.
Not very many heard you when you said on receiving that first check:
"I look at it, and I think I will be an honest man with this country which has been so good to me. So I start to sweep the street. My bread it tastes sweet, and I feel like a man because I work."
You wanted to be an honest man with this country which had been so good to you.
You make us ashamed, Mario. Many of us would not have felt that way.
When we were old and had nothing, and faced nothing but the poorhouse, and $3.60 a week, and a grave in the potter's field.
Yet you were right. Even so, your country had been in some ways good to you. It had protected you, and kept you a free man able to look other men in the eye without fear. And though its provision for you when you were old and unable to work any more was pitifully meager, still it did not forget you.
Yes, we are ashamed, Mario, and we write you this letter quite humbly.
For this country has been good to us, too, much better than it was to you.
And we have done so little for our country!

Human Body, Although Small, Can Be Healthful and Strong

Frequently I have pointed out that our constitutions and the general characteristics of our bodies are inherited according to a form established by our ancestors.

It is, therefore, hardly within the realm of possibility for parents of small and frail body type to expect to have children who will be tall and robust. However, regardless of size, it is possible for the human body to be healthful. It is possible to make a great deal of strength out of a small body.

Too many parents are ready to disclaim their responsibility by saying that the boy or the girl has always been delicate, or even to say, "Our family has always been delicate." As soon as this point of view is established, it becomes simple for the child to neglect any opportunity to develop himself by repeating the label placed on him by his parents.

Some children are subject to chronic disease. A child who has been infected early in life with rheumatic fever, a child born with damage to the heart, or one whose heart has been infected early in life by the presence of some other disease is likely to be, all his life, more or less delicate. Such a child must live his life largely in relationship to the heart condition.

Physicians recognize certain symptoms which are characteristic of such cases. For example, fatigue which comes on after slight exercise, breathlessness that comes on easily and lasts long, a pale or pasty color with blueness of the lips, a pinched, anxious expression, and frequent attacks of dizziness should be a warning that the heart is not functioning as it should.

A child with these manifestations of an actually delicate constitution must have special consideration. He must be protected against high pressure, worry and tension. He must be protected against having to walk long distances to school, or to climb many steps in the school. He must be relieved from a long school program. Preferably such a child should have rest periods at frequent intervals.

Moreover, the doctor should plan for the child a program of reconstruction based on properly balanced relaxation and exercise that will do much to repair the weakened heart.

West Coast Teams

NEW YORK—Welcome word from the west coast has been received in eastern track circles that the date of the Pacific Coast Conference track meet has been shifted forward to May 20, thus allowing four western members of the I. C. 4-A to participate in the body's 63d annual carnival, May 26-27.

The shift will allow Southern California to defend its team title won on Randall's Island last year. California, Stanford, and U. C. L. A. also are expected to send entrants.

A Prayer For Dogs
Good Master, bless each dog that no one owns.
That has no flower, bed to bury bones,
No loving hand to scratch his ears and ruff,
No door to guard, and never quite enough
To eat. Ye saints, guard well each cringing pup
That slinks with tail turned down instead of up.
Good Master: pity pampered city dogs
That sleep indoors all day like snoring logs.
That never feel the sun nor watch the rain.
Except behind a window curtained pane;
That grow to wheeze and cough from too much fat,
And never in their lives have chased a cat.
All other dogs, beloved and gay and free,
Are blest enough—they need not trouble thee.—Selected.

The above selection is dedicated to two little dogs, "beloved and gay and free."

THEATERS

At the Saenger

Walter Pidgeon although he has found his greatest success as a film actor in nine pictures within two years, still yearns to return temporarily to the New York stage. The ninth of his pictures is "Society Lawyer," at the Saenger theater, Wednesday, in which he is teamed with Virginia Bruce.

Born on September 23rd, Pidgeon is the son of a wholesale merchant in St. Johns, New Brunswick. His youthful ambition was to become a sea captain like his grandfather but the nearest he approached this ambition was when he sailed the St. Johns River and Bay of Fundy, listening to the "old salts."

Following his education in the public and high schools at St. Johns and at the University of New Brunswick, Pidgeon enlisted in the Canadian army in 1917 and served through the World War with the 65th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery.

At the close of the war, Pidgeon entered the brokerage business in Boston from 1919 to 1921. While still in business he entered the Chappin Dramatic School and began in small parts with the E. E. Clive Stock Company. He later joined Elsie Janis, with whom he had worked while entertaining troops in France, on a vaudeville tour of the United States. He accompanied Miss Janis to London for a six months' run of "At Home" at the Shaftesbury theater.

In 1925 Pidgeon went to Hollywood for Universal Pictures. He appeared in three musicals, then returned to Broadway. In 1930 he appeared in four pictures, and again went back to the stage for "No More Ladies," "The Night of January 16," "Something Gay" and "There's Wisdom in Women."

He then made three pictures at Universal, was borrowed by M-G-M for "Samstag," after "My Dear Miss Aldrich," M-G-M purchased Pidgeon's Universal contract and he has since remained with this company, appearing in "Man-Proof," "The Girl of the Golden West," "Shopworn Angel," "Too Hot to Handle" and "Listen, Darling."

Friends will sympathize with Mrs. W. Duckett in the passing of her sister, Mrs. Maggie Holman Penny, who passed on at her home in Idabel, Thursday, April 13. Surviving are two brothers, Tuck Holman of Tusksaloka, Okla., and Zeke Holman of Idabel, one sister, Mrs. W. W. Duckett of this city, one son and four grand children of Idabel, Okla.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Noel Huckabee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Huckabee, Hope, Route 1, to Theron Bright of Lewisville. The wedding was solemnized on Saturday, April 1, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Bennett of Hope.

of it, even once, but the truth was that they were miserable with concern for Betty Mary, and each man knew it in his heart. They got in Hope's car after supper and Hope, at the wheel, turned it westward without so much as a comment. Nor was anything said about Betty when he rolled up on the bridge over the Rio Grande.

"Senores!" both men spoke, and added a formal salute, when they slowed down to pass the Mexican officers on guard at their end of the bridge. It was a custom for officers of either country thus to pass back and forth, with mutual courtesies extended. The Mexican officials liked to visit in America; the Americans in Mexico. Both groups were known to one another anyway.

"Might stop up here on Cinco de Mayo street and get another cuppa coffee," Sheridan suggested. "And look around some."

They still hadn't mentioned Betty Mary. But she had been gone for almost 24 hours and that much time can seem like a year. They ought to have arranged for her to telephone them or some thing every little while, Hope was thinking.

They drove twice by the Monkezuma Hotel and saw no sign of her. They parked then and walked up Cinco de Mayo, thence over on to 16th de Septiembre, looking tentatively into every barroom, saloon, cafe, restaurant, hotel lobby, and curio store, two big American officers well aware that many a man and woman who hated them were on the streets at that hour.

Still searching, they turned into The Place of the Sleeping Monk and all at once saw her!

She was sitting at a table alone. The two officers brightened instantly. They stalked to another table nearby and sat down, beckoning to a waiter. They had eaten heartily in El Paso, but they ordered another meal.

Behind a glass of iced aguamiel—the strange sweet drink of Mexico—Betty Mary looked at them in exasperation.

SHE alternately sipped her drink and sketched. It helped cover her feelings. She watched the Americans eat chili and enchiladas. And she watched the front door, trying to think of something to do, some recourse.

There was no time, however, to form a plan. She was just beginning a new sketch when Barro himself came in, walking with his customary grace and swagger. He saw her instantly and smiled grandly.

"Senorita!" he exclaimed. "I was afraid you might not keep the appointment! I am so luckless I do not deserve."

All at once he stiffened, seemed

Link WPA League to Soviet Russia

But David Lasser, President Workers Alliance, Denies It

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—House investigators heard Monday that formation of the Workers Alliance, a national union of WPA employees and the jobless, had been reported to the Third International as a triumph for the Communist party.

J. O'Connor Roberts, lawyer for the house committee investigating the WPA, read excerpts from such a report which he said had been made by Herbert Benjamin, secretary-treasurer of the Alliance. Roberts brought up the subject while questioning David Lasser, president of the union, who previously had testified that he made a trip to Russia in 1937 at the union's expense. At the time, the anniversary of the revolution in Russia was being celebrated.

Declaring Benjamin had reported to the Third International that merger of unemployed organizations in the United States into the Workers Alliance represented the culmination of a four-year campaign by the Communist party, Roberts asked Lasser what he knew about this report.

"I have no knowledge of that," the witness replied. "Nobody determined the unification of our movement, except the members."

Asked about his political views, Lasser protested that they were not pertinent to the inquiry, but described himself as a former Socialist. He denied he was a member of the Communist party.

"At present I believe in trying to make capitalism work," he asserted.

Mussolini Raps F. D.

The article, which was headed "Unworthy Maneuver of Roosevelt Will Arrest of above men as alleged members of $1,000,000-a-month narcotic ring, operating out of Kansas City, Mo., was followed by resignation of City Manager H. F. McElroy, announcement by Mayor Bryce B. Smith that he would take powers beyond those given him by charter to complete community cleanup. The suspects, seized by federal agents, are: Otis "Jack" Colburn, top left, Kansas City policeman; Angelo Donnicci, top right, saloon operator known as "mayor of 9th street"; James Abbott, lower left; Charles Crapial, lower center, charged with possession of morphine and illicit alcohol; and Angelo "Bossie" Negro, lower right, night club operator.

The article said President Roosevelt's appeal evidently was for internal use. It charged him with wanting to divert American opinion from "the unemployment which grows day by day."

Urges the South Forget Civil War

Southern Editor and LSU Professor Denounce Use of War "Alibi"

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—A ringing challenge to the South to forget the Civil war as the "cause" of its problems and turn its energy to development of its vast resources was delivered to a symposium studying Southern problem here Monday.

The charge by Gerald W. Johnson, associate editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun; that the South was too prone to use the war to alibi its shortcomings touched off a brief but animated disagreement.

Johnson listed lynching, poverty, ignorance, industrial peonage and the "rotting of religion" as some of the things war-smothered. Southerners sometimes blamed on the North and the Civil war.

"There is hardly a misfortune, no matter how plainly due to its own doing, that the South cannot connect with the hostilities that ended nearly 75 years ago," the editor stated. "Men who have a standing excuse for every fault are denied the bitter, but effective tonic of shame. For 75 years the South never has been thoroughly ashamed of itself. No wonder its intellectual progress has been snail-like."

Cleeth Brooks, professor on the L. S. U. English faculty, said "Southerners have very frequently tasted of that excellent and healthful beverage," chum for the South's meanness. "Any Southerner would have to be a case-hardened teetotaler indeed to abstain

How Christianity Came to Jap, Told

Excerpts From Dr. Garrott's Revival at First Baptist Church

The Japanese ambassador to the United States and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Horinouchi, are Christians and members of the Baptist church. The Associated Press carried a story at the time of their appointment concerning their conversion to Christianity. Dr. Maxfield Garrott, 28-year-old son of Dr. E. P. Garrott of Conway, Ark., was instrumental in bringing about their conversion. Dr. E. P. Garrott will tell something of the work of his son, Maxfield, and of Japanese life and customs at receptions which will be given him on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons by the juniors and intermediate departments, respectively, of First Baptist church.

Dr. Garrott, who preaches each morning at 10 a. m. and each night at 7:30 p. m. in a revival meeting at First Baptist church, spoke to a good congregation upon his first appearance at the local church Monday night.

The following excerpts are from Dr. Garrott's sermon:

"Some people want a business revival, a stirring up of smoldering life. We need also a spiritual revival. I wish we Baptist people could get as afraid of sin as we are of purity."

Spurgeon said, "Give me a congregation of people who practice holy living, and I will use them as a lever to turn the world to Christ."

The closer we draw to Jesus Christ as the center of our religion, the closer we come to each other. We need to love the sinner as Christ loves him, but hate the sin which draws him away from our Saviour. With the court of public opinion always in session and with an unbelieving world in the jury box, may we not be continuously giving the kind of testimony which will lead people to accept Jesus Christ?"

Special music, directed by Claude Taylor with Mrs. F. L. Padgett at the Piano, will feature the service each evening this week.

Major Leagues to Open on Tuesday

Weather Is Seen Disagreeable in Several League Cities

NEW YORK—(AP)—If old man weather feels in the right mood—and the chances are he won't—all 16 teams get baseball's centennial year under way in full force Tuesday.

Mr. Weather ruined half of the usual two-game advance opening Monday, forcing the nation's No. 1 right-hander, President Roosevelt, along with the New York Yankees and Washington Senators, to the sidelines.

The other half of the curtailed first-day program saw the highly-regarded Cincinnati Reds, the "experts" choice to win the National League pennant, fall apart in the late innings and drop a 7-5 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The defeat was doubly costly, since Shortstop Billy Myers was hit on the head by a thrown ball and taken to a hospital with a possible concussion.

Either mild showers or honest-to-gosh rainstorms are predicted for six of the eight cities planned to get the business started Tuesday. Things are even worse in Detroit, where the Chicago White Sox invade the Tigers' lair, for it's "rain or snow" as the outlook there. At St. Louis, where the Browns entertain the Cleveland Indians, the prediction is "cloudy" but the chances are none too good.

Nearly 250,000 fans are expected to turn out for the four games in each league, with the biggest crowd, some 50,000 or so, anticipated in the huge Yankee Stadium, where the world champions try to get their season started again, with Boston's highly-regarded Red Sox, improved over the winter, as opposition.

The pennant-winning Chicago Cubs of the National League also open at home, against the Reds, and some 25,000 are expected to see big Bill Lee the "life saving" right hander of the 38 champions, oppose Paul Derringer. The St. Louis Cardinals are slated to begin at Pittsburgh; the Phillies at Boston; and the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers' long-standing feud on the "Dodgers" home grounds at Ebbets Field. In addition to the New York, Detroit and St. Louis openings in the American League, Washington's Senators, their own home opening postponed by wet grounds, journey to Philadelphia to tangle with Connie Mack's lowly Athletics.

The Senators will play host to the Yankees again in the delayed Washington opening Friday, but it's doubtful the president will be on hand to take care of his usual hurling assignment.

The annual winter overturn, necessitated by the customary howling of the "wolves," finds five new managers beginning their first full season in the driver's seat. Gabby Hartnett, who succeeded Cholly Grimm in the middle of the 1938 festivities and then piloted the Chicago Cubs to the pennant, is confident he can repeat, aided by fresh reserves to back up his championship lineup of last year.

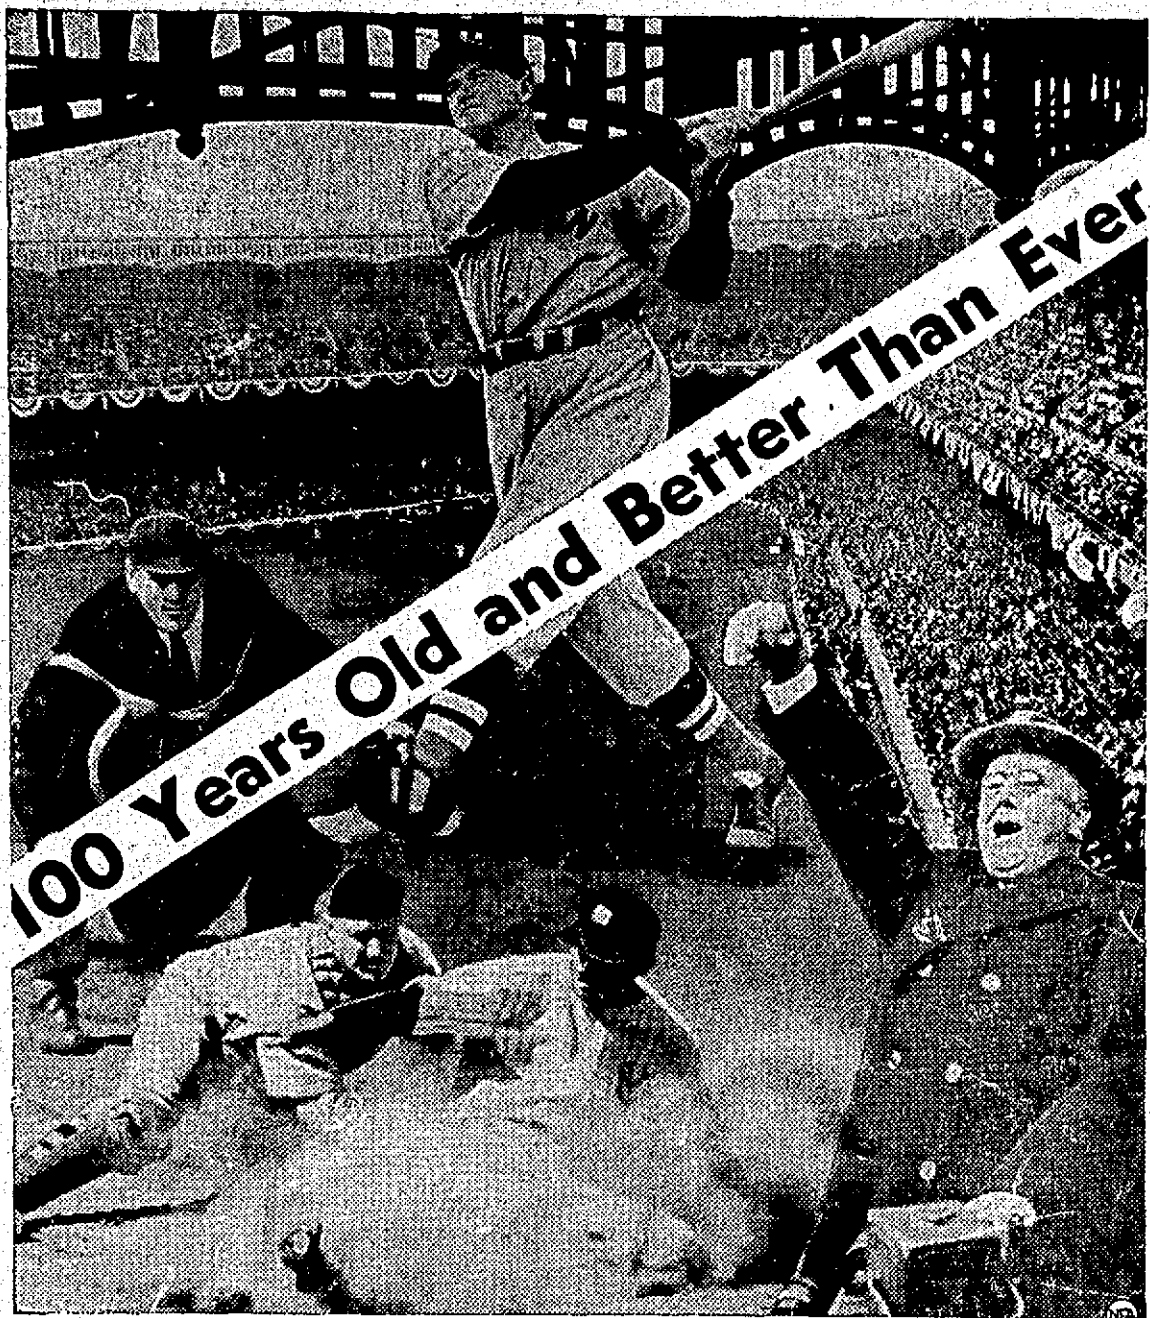

Del Baker, who took over Mickey Vernon's post after the season got under way, rates his outfit Tigers as an American League "it".

Fred Haney with the St. Louis Browns, Doc Prothro at the head of the fabled Phillies and Ray Blades replacing Frankie Frisch as No. 1 gangster of the gasless Gas House Gang of St. Louis Cardinals are the other "freshmen" pilots. As usual, Connie Mack is still managing the Athletics. Only Mr. Mack can fire Connie.

There are few anywhere in or out of baseball who believe the Yankees can be beaten for their fourth American League pennant in a row. One of the greatest combinations in baseball history, if not the greatest, the Yanks made diamond history last year with their third straight world championship and even Marse Joe McCarthy's usual cautiousness concerning his team admits Murderers' Row "has a good chance to repeat."

The only threats seen on the Yankee horizon are those provided by the Red Sox, and the Detroit Tigers with the slugging of Hank Greenberg, Rudy York and Charley Gehringer and the high comeback hopes of Schoolboy Rowe.

In the National League, the Reds

Manager Cronin Picks Tabor Over Williams as Year's Top Recruit

Many Strong Candidates for Freshman Laurels Discount Reports of Player Shortage in Major Leagues

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Ted Williams is one of those phenomena who come along once in a long while... guaranteed to make good... like Joe DiMaggio.

A flop by the tall jitterbug of San Diego would foot every baseball man who has seen him.

Loose as a contortionist and as cocky as Jimmy Dykes, Williams, barely 21, led American Association batters with an average of .366; 43 home runs, 371 total bases and 130 runs. Standing six feet three and weighing 180 pounds, Theodore Francis is going to be quite a young man when he fills out.

A left-handed hitter, many competent observers see in the Boston Red Sox recruit the greatest potential home run manufacturer since George Herman Ruth, and he possesses the speed and outfielding skill to go with it.

Yet Manager Joe Cronin picks Jim Tabor as the outstanding peacemaker of 1939. Tabor, a third baseman with a wide range, is a right-hand batter who wallops the ball savagely and on a line. But what Cronin likes about the Alabamian is his courage.

"Jim's one of those blokes who won't let you down in the stretch," beams Cronin, who also has a brilliant right-hand pitching prospect in Woodrow Rich.

There are a number of strong candidates for the right to be called the foremost freshman of the year.

Detroit has Shortstop Frank Croucher and Freddie Hutchinson, the $75,000 pitching beauty. If Hutch can't pitch well enough, he may do as a catcher.

Yankees Draw Usual Allotment of Stars

Outfielder Charley Keller and Catcher Buddy Rosar, top hitters of the International League, are sure shots with the Yankees, and Joe Gallagher, hard to fool at the plate and a smooth workman in right field, isn't far behind.

Henry Phipps seems to finally have struck his major league pitching stride with the Athletics, and Dee Miles, up again this time from Chattanooga, threatens to help Connie Mack in the outfield.

The Browns offer Shortstop Johnny Berardino, developed in San Antonio; Emil Bialdill, a southpaw who copped 18 for Springfield, Ill.; and a thoroughly experienced Hal Spindel, who caught Hutchinson in Seattle.

Roberto Estelle, a squatty outfielder, and Rene Montegudo, a little left-hand pitcher, are two Cubans who will stick with Washington, which also has come up with a neat catcher and hitter in Jake Early.

In the National League, the Cardinals have Tom Sunkel, triplicate mound monarch of the Southern Association; Mort Cooper, the Texas League strikeout king; and Ben Raffensberger, who led the International loop in effectiveness. Sunkel and Raffensberger are left-handers. Sunkel showed the way in the Southern circuit in earned run average, victory percentage and strikeouts. Miller Convinces Bees He Was Worth $50,000

Branch Rickey considers Herman Franks, up to the Red Birds from Sacramento, as the most intelligent catcher to make his major league bow in some years. Joe Oringo, also a graduate of the coast Senators, may put an end to St. Louis' shortstopping problem.

The Boston Bees paid the Yankees' Kansas City branch $50,000 for Shortstop Eddie Miller and the Pittsburgh kid appears to be worth the price. An injury is delaying the start of Henry Majeski at third base for the Hub army.

Phil Masi, Chicago butcher boy, showed Casey Stengel so much behind the bat and at the plate in a short space of time that the seasoned Al Todd was traded to Brooklyn.

The Dodgers' principal candidates for first year honors are pitchers who have been around... Woodrow Wyatt and Russell (Red) Evans.

The Cubs have Steve Mesner in the infield and Jim Gleason in the outfield.

The Giants have the giant Manuel Salvo and are confident that his last name seldom will be used in describing the attack on his slants.

Merrill May, at third base and Len Gabrielson at first, the first named drafted and the latter purchased from the Yankee organization, should make the Phils less futile.

And all Eddie Joost, up from Kansas City, has to do to remain at second base for the Reds is to continue treat-

Second Round to Open in Southern

Travelers to Oppose New Orleans on Their Own Diamond

By the Associated Press
Southern Association fans who have had to admire their favorites from afar will get a look at their heroes on the home premises Tuesday when the loop runs off its second program of curtain raisers.

Little Rock, boasting the only unblemished record in the loop after the first round of firing, will entertain New Orleans in an effort to make it three wins in a row.

Joe Engel will unveil his Lookouts fresh from a series triumph over Atlanta's champs—with the Nashvilles furnishing the opposition.

Atlanta will invade Knoxville, perhaps with a slightly altered lineup, and Birmingham will have its first look at the Barons with Memphis putting up the argument.

Uncertain weather was in prospect after Monday's stormy day but the turnstiles were well greased in anticipation of brisk business. Birmingham, the only "A" class city left to open was given slight chance to top the apparent trophy winning total of 22,069 turned out by New Orleans.

Chattanooga was favored to better the $900 Nashville mustered in its bid for the class "B" award and likewise was given a good chance to top the congregations at Little Rock and Knoxville.

Roper Is Knocked Out in 2 Minutes

Louis Stops Opponent With Hard Jabs to the Face

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Joe Louis successfully defended his heavyweight boxing championship Monday night by knocking out 36-year-old Jack Roper in two minutes and 20 seconds in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

They came out slowly. Each sparring cautiously seeking an opening. Roper landed the first punch, a left to the chin. Louis hit a left to the body and Roper drove a left hook to the champion's side. They fiddled around again. Louis hooked a stiff left and Roper staggered.

Roper came back with a two-listed attack driving rights and lefts to Louis' body and face. Louis whipped in another stinging left which cut Roper's right eye. The champion jumped in and beat a two-listed attack on Roper's face that dropped him for the count. Roper tried vainly to raise but his legs were paralyzed.

He swung the top rope and tried to pull himself up but fell over on his face. Referee Blake tolled off the count.

Basketball Originator Will Wed in Summer

LAWRENCE, Kan.—(AP)—Mrs. F. B. Kincaid Monday confirmed reports of her approaching marriage to Dr. James Naismith, 77, of Kansas University and said the ceremony would take place in the early summer.

Mrs. Kincaid is a former resident of Beloit, Kan., and has been house mother for the last four years at Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Dr. Naismith became known around the world as the "father of basketball."

The game, originated back in 1891 as a means of winter exercise at YMCA training school in Springfield, Mass., proved popular from the start.

Dr. Naismith has been professor of physical education at Kansas University for many years.

He was born in Canada and was graduated from McGill University, Montreal, in 1887.

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Cecil Isbell and Clem Woltman, former Purdue University footballers now members of the Green Bay Packers and Philadelphia Eagles, respectively are working out with the Boilermakers spring training squad. Both are completing work on degrees.

THIS SURE HITS A HAPPY NOTE IN "MAKIN'S" SMOKING...

Marvin ("Bill") Mulinder knows a thing or two about "makin's" cigarettes, particularly about which tobacco gives real joy—and why

"IT'S no trick at all to roll 'em up fast and plump," Bill says, "when you're pourin' in Prince Albert. It's crimp cut, lays right and burns even—drawing easy and smoking cool on your tongue all the while." Yes, sir, roll-your-owners, Prince Albert is better "makin's" tobacco—milder, tastier, mellower. Get its joy to workin' right in your "makin's" papers—now!
